Tarff Reform and Free Wool.

Since the number of woolen goods manufacturers who are coming ou in support of the Mills bill is increasing daily, notwith, standing the fact that the most of them are old and staunch republicans, it might be interesting to know that they base their opin. ion upon the ground that free wool would enlarge the market for their goods and also be a benefit to the men in their employ. inasmuch as there would be a greater demand for labor and more steady than there is now. The following are the views of Mr. R. Bleakie, a prominent manufacturer of woolen goods in Hyde Park, Mass. He says: "I preach an old republican doctrine when I pronounce in favor of the Mills bill, the doctrine which was favored by Sherman and Hale, Frye and Allison, Grant, Arthur and Folger, and even by Blaine. All these men declared publicly in favor of tariff reform, but did not take any practical steps toward it, I therefore feel bound to support Cleveland in his tariff reform because his reform is not all talk, but he works hard to bring about practical results. The greatest trouble is that protective tar iff does not protect, and to prove this take my business for an example. It takes on an average 31 pounds of wool to make I pound of cloth, and the average price of this cloth is $1.75 per pound. The duty on the wool used averages 11 cents per pound; therefore the duty on one pound of woolen goods is 31 times 11, or 353, or more than 20 per cent. ad valorem. The farmer is rot protected by this tariff on wool. We are now in the midst of a campaign, in which the cry of that party which is going to be the winning one is 'free wool,' and it has been claimed that even the agitation of the tariff question is injurious to business interests, but still, since Mr. Cleveland's message to Congress wool has advanced 10 cents per pound. I am sure that in case of the Mills bill becoming a law our farmers would receive higher average prices for their wool, on account of the greater demand for it, as our wool is chiefly used to be mixed with the finer imported grades. With free wool, free chemicals and dyestuff-, which would enable us to manu-facture as cheap as the foreign manufacturer,

WILD STEERS ON A RAMPAGE.-Four wild steers escaped from the Union Stock Yards, New York, a few days since. A band of boys going to school ran after them and a stampede resulted. Up the Boulevard they went on a mad rush. Men with ropes from the cattle yards, policemen and citizens joined in the pursuit, the policemen adding to the peril of the fleeing promenaders by firing at the steers. Policeman Joseph Back emptied his revolver at the advancing brutes without doing them any harm. One of them in its turn ran over the officer, and, picking him up with its horns, flung him aside as if he were a man of straw. bruises are painful, if not serious. Another of the brutes gored James Hall, aged 16 years, knocked him down and trampled on him. The boy was carried to the Manhat-tan Hospital in an ambulance. Numerous people had narrow escapes. At 110th street one of the steers was shot dead by Police-man McDonald. The other three kept on their way to 131st street, where Capt. Cartwright's street squad was lying in am-bush. A well directed shot from a revolver stretched another dead in its tracks. The remaining two were corralled among some trucks, and finally captured before they had done further damage.

A TOAD CRAB.—There was captured Sunday afternoon in Wrightsville Sound a crab which in some respect resembles a toad. The shell is about the same color as a toad, coming up on one side with a nose and with claws folding under like double gates closed, giving that part of the shell a singular likeness to the mouth of a toad. It is the first of the kind ever seen in this vicinity, c: anywhere else so far as known.-Wilmington, N. C., Messenger.
